Crazy Mom's Fashion

It started 20 years ago. One day, Jane Smith, a busy mom and a loving wife, went shopping for new clothes. After a few hours of searching, she came home exhausted and disappointed. In the mid-80s, few manufacturers made clothes for women over thirty. “Thousands of women in England have the same problem, and I will help them,” – thought Mrs. Smith. With very little money, no connections in the fashion world and a husband who thought that her idea was crazy, the ambitious woman decided to start up her own business.

Jane designed her first collection of twenty clothing items, bought suitable material and sewing machines, and hired experienced tailors. The Smiths' balcony turned into a workshop. When the collection was ready, Jane offered it to a famous chain of stores. To her surprise, they bought the whole collection at once. When they asked her about the name of her company, Jane looked at her husband, smiled and said: “Crazy Mom”. The collection was sold in a very short time – women liked Jane's models. In a month, the manager of the chain ordered more clothes from “Crazy Mom” and Jane had to hire more people and find a bigger place for the workshop. The next step was opening her own shop at the central train station in Manchester.

Now “Crazy Mom” has 50 boutiques all over the world. Mr. Smith left his job as an engineer and became head of the company. Their four children also work in the company and, according to Jane, this is what makes the business so successful.

Students and Teachers

Different students like or dislike different subjects. However, there is one thing in common for all of them: the role of the teacher in these 'likes' and 'dislikes'. It's very hard for a student to succeed in learning a subject if he or she doesn't like the person who teaches it.

To be sure that students are going to like a teacher the school wants to hire, the principal of one high school decided to try a new way of choosing teachers. In order to be accepted, the candidate has to be interviewed twice – first by the principal and then by the students' committee.

Gabi Levy explains the reason for this double interview: "We, the students, want to know what kind of person our future teacher is because he or she will teach us and not the principal." Another student adds: "It is great that our school allows us to make important decisions and influence our school life."

The principal, Ronen Dan, agrees with his students: "The students want to know whether the candidate answers their criteria, and the administration has its own requirements. We discuss the results of each interview together and decide who can be accepted. I hope that now there will be fewer conflicts and more understanding between students and teachers in our school. This experiment teaches kids to take responsibility for their choice. If they approve of a teacher, they can't complain that his or her requirements are unfair."

THE WEDDING GOWN

My name is Debra Cohen and I live in Raanana. My fiancé, Aaron, and I are getting married on June 14th, 2008. We have just 6 months to plan our wedding. It isn't much time, but Aaron is going to take care of the wedding hall and our parents will help with the invitations. My main concern is how I will look on the most important day of my life.

While looking through ads for wedding gowns in the "Bridal Monthly" magazine, I saw a beautiful dress advertised by "The Bridal Chalet" salon. The ad explained that the gown was made from the highest quality fabric and the decorations were hand-made. I am a busy person, so what really interested me was that all dress fittings could be done at the client's house for an extra NIS 300. And then, if the client is not totally satisfied with the original gown, changes can be made to it at no extra cost.

I am going to answer this ad by writing a letter to "The Bridal Chalet" to verify all the details and make an appointment to visit the salon.
